

Week2 – You Can Go to God, January 14, 2024

Ice Breaker:

Share a moment when you faced a seemingly insurmountable challenge, and despite the odds, you experienced a breakthrough. How did this experience shape your faith and perspective on God's power?

Discussion Questions:

1. Riding Waves of Faith: Drawing from the analogy of surfing and sailing in the sermon, share an experience where you felt God's presence and guidance in your life. How did you recognize the "waves" or "wind" that led you to where God was moving?
2. Making Room for God: In the story of the Shunammite woman highlighted in 2 Kings 4:8-10, she intentionally made room for Elisha in her life, and God blessed her abundantly. What intentional steps can you take to make room for God in your busy life, ensuring that we are positioned where He is moving?
3. Embracing Weakness for Blessing: The sermon highlighted that the blessing of God is often found in our weakness. Share a personal experience where you witnessed God's strength in your weakness, turning a challenging situation into a blessing.
4. Persistence in Prayer: The woman in the story demonstrated persistence when her son faced a life-threatening situation. Reflect on a time when you persisted in prayer despite facing discouragement. How did God respond, and what did you learn about persistence in seeking His will?
5. Covered by God's Grace: The sermon beautifully described how Elisha covered the dead boy, similar to how Jesus covers us with His grace. How does the concept of being covered by God's grace impact your understanding of salvation and your relationship with Him?

Key Takeaway or Action Item:

Identify one area in your life where you need to actively go to where God is moving. It could be a personal challenge, a relationship, or a specific aspect of your spiritual journey. Craft a specific plan for seeking God's guidance and presence in this area over the next week. Share your plan with the group for accountability and encouragement. Additionally, commit to participating in the You Version Bible Reading Plan on Elisha's life, engaging in daily reflections and discussions as a group.
